2. An academic article page (with tools in use).

The screenshot shows the Adobe Acrobat Reader interface. The main document content is a list of phrases: "Partia las aguas", "Su brioso empuje", "El viento de lebeche", "Movía aguas abajo", "El repique de campanas", "Torres blancas", "Weilala leia", "Wallala leialala", "Tranvías y árboles polvorientos.", "Highbury me vio nacer. Richmond y Kew", "Me destruyeron. Por Richmond levanté las rodillas", and "Con la espalda en el suelo de una estrecha canoa." A red comment box is overlaid on the right side, containing the following text: "Comentado [g50]: El viento del sudoeste/suroeste ('Southwest wind'). Yo no usaría 'lebeche' fuera de un contexto mediterráneo. Lebeche Del ár. hisp. labāḥ, y este del lat. Libyca 'a la manera de Libia', por soplar de dicha dirección. 1. m. En el litoral del Mediterráneo, viento sudoeste. <https://dle.rae.es/lebeche> El Lebeche o Garbino es el nombre que en el levante y sureste de español se da al viento que sopla del suroeste. Por su procedencia, frecuentemente acude con arena y fino polvo en suspensión, procedente del desierto del Sáhara. El Lebeche se produce por el desplazamiento de borrascas en el Mediterráneo sur de oeste a este; este desplazamiento provoca el movimiento de masas de aire tropical, cálidas, secas y polvorientas desde el Sahara hasta el sureste de España. Este viento es anticipado por la aparición de calma en el horizonte hacia el sur. El color característico de dicha calma es provocado por la gran cantidad de polvo africano que acarrea. La aparición de este viento anuncia la llegada de la depresión que lo provoca, depresión que a veces conlleva tormentas y lluvia. Vientos de características similares al lebeche toman otros nombres en otras partes del litoral mediterráneo, como siroco, jamdino, qibli, Marin, jugo etc. <https://educalingo.com/es/dic-es/lebeche>

The screenshot shows the Academic Phrasebank website. The page title is "Academic Phrasebank" and the subtitle is "Describing trends". The main content area is titled "Describing trends" and includes a definition: "A trend is the general direction in which something is developing or changing over time. A projection is a prediction of future change. Trends and projections are usually illustrated using line graphs in which the horizontal axis represents time. Some of the language commonly used for writing about trends and projections is given below." Below the definition is a table with three columns: "Describing trends", "slight", "fall", "rise", "drop", "steep", "sharp", "steady", "gradual", "marked", "increase", "decrease", and "in the number of divorces in England and Wales since 1981." The table is as follows:

Describing trends	slight	fall	rise
The graph shows that there has been a	slight	fall	rise
Figure 2 reveals that there has been a	steep	drop	drop sharp	decline	decline
	steady	increase	increase
	gradual	marked	decrease

Below the table are two sections: "Highlighting a trend in a table or chart" and "Describing high and low points in figures".
